

People, sometimes in very desperate circumstances, are reaching out to LMS Compassion Place ministries for help -- seeking food, clothing, friendship, meaning in their lives.

And, in faith, our volunteers are reaching back. Whether "on the front lines" of mission work -- handing out bags of food, leading a Bible study, assisting clients and visitors in the centers -- or in one of the many and diverse support functions, Compassion Place volunteers make a difference in real lives.

Not the least of which is their own.

"I've volunteered other places -- hospitals, pet shelters, nursing homes -- but there's nothing like the Compassion Place centers. I love the wonderful caring, warm, and welcoming atmosphere, and the interaction with staff, volunteers and visitors. I feel like I receive even more than I give. I love it here."

-- Beverly Hart, Volunteer at Annapolis Compassion Center
